

We are working with organizers from OPEIU's Tech1010 to seek recognition through an election administered by the NLRB.

Simply put, a union of workers at Bandcamp. Bandcamp United is powered by us: designers, journalists, support staff, engineers, and more, all dedicated to the mission of Bandcamp. Many of us are ourselves independent artists, label owners, and promoters, and all of us are fans who chose to join this company as an extension of our own love for independent music, and believe that a site such as Bandcamp that aims to offer an ethical and fair alternative to the streaming economy should reflect its mission internally.

Who is Bandcamp United?

What We're Fighting For

Bandcamp United wants fair, equitable, and sustainable conditions for all workers at Bandcamp. All workers deserve to be treated and valued fairly. We also want to influence Bandcamp's direction without fear of repercussion, and to hold Bandcamp accountable for delivering on its artist-first mission.

Time and experience have shown us that the only way to achieve this is by organizing together.

Where to find us!

How you can help

1. Support us on social media

We will be posting from @BandcampUnited on both Twitter and Instagram, and would love for you to follow us and RT our posts. Please tag us (and @bandcamp and @epicgames) in your own posts. Ask our leadership to commit to a fair and speedy election.

2. Signing our Petition to Bandcamp + Epic Leadership

Signing our letter of support will remind our leadership that the greater Bandcamp community cares about Bandcamp workers. It is our hope that this will lower their likelihood of attempting to foil our unionization efforts. Please go to <https://actionnetwork.org/petitions/fair-election-bandcamp-united> and sign your name to stand by us as we take this huge step forward!
